'Personal Profile'

Career Decision: Music? Business?

[This is the first in a series of "Personal Profiles" which will appear occasionally in the Star. The profiles will focus on interesting personalities in Yorba Linda. This initial one features Miss Yorba Linda and others will focus on the four members of her Court. Text and photographs are by Staff Photographer Debbie Conkey].

In junior high she was in an Ohio school rock band and cut a record. In 1974, she sang with the Ambassador Chorale at the Greek Theatre backing up the Righteous Brothers. And her mother was a child star, appearing to TV guest spots in St. Louis, and singing for events like the Governor of Illinois' inauguration.

Yet, when Laura Jean Oberjuege burst into the world at ten pounds, music wasn't her only destiny. Presently, the "Miss Yorba Linda" and sophomore at Cal State University, Fullerton is determined to obtain a business administration degree.

"California high schools have been boring," she says, "compared to those back East. College has been more of a challenge and though I'll be involved in music, I want something else to fall back on."

Laura speaks animatedly, hands constantly pulling on her skirt, and says two things have shaped her life—religion and her parents. "Religion has given me inner strength," she says, "though I'm not fanatical."

And her parents?

"I was going on a concert tour of Europe," she says, freckles expanding with her grin, "and we decided to earn money with a raffle. I'm not a very aggressive person usually, but my dad asked me to sell 20 tickets."

To her surprise, she sold 70 the first day, which eventually germinated to an 1,100 figure. "Because of my dad's suggestion, I accomplished something unthought of and made new friends in the neighborhood as well."

Her mother, of course, had taught piano and singing to Laura for many of her 19 years. But which specific qualities have her parents given her? Laura becomes quiet, chin in hand. And with a wink she blurts "All of the good ones," alert to her mother's presence.

Laura enjoys horseback riding, ice skating, skiing and especially lending an ear to Barry Manilow, Carly Simon and Elton John albums. "But I also like old orchestra records from movies such as 'Over the Rainbow' and 'Three Coins in a Fountain.'"

"A COLLEGE degree is a definite advantage. There are jobs out there if you work hard at looking." She is studying business and is positive about women in that field. "Equality in pay can only get better, but only the most qualified should be hired, not someone just to fill a quota."

"MY MOTHER has helped a lot with my singing, but she has never pushed me." Her mother, Bernice (Bert) was enthusiastic that Laura could continue where she left off. Bert was a star at 11, later playing local events and "singing at almost every wedding in St. Louis."

Little Bits

Under terms of the new contract between the City of Yorba Linda and the Brea Police Dept. for the latter to provide police service to the city Larry Brea has been assigned permanently as commander and promoted from sergeant to lieutenant.

Faith Baptist Church, 17345 Yorba Linda Blvd., has had a conditional use permit approved to operate a Christian Day School in a classroom building now under construction. The Planning Commission approved the CUP with a condition that landscape plans be approved before the building is occupied. The school will accommodate 120 students.

Funeral services were held last Friday for Robert John Hoopes, 37, 19692 Ridgewood Place, Yorba Linda. He died at an area hospital following a brief illness. Services were at Moravian Church here with burial in San Pedro. Mr. Hoopes was born in Alaska and worked at Rockwell International for many years. He is survived by his parents, Robert Hoopes, Sr. of Santa Barbara and his mother, Josephine Bramlett of Yorba Linda. McAulay and Wallace Mortuary, Yorba Linda, was in charge.

A City Council request for possible creation of a new zone or revision of the PRD zone was rejected last week by the Planning Commission. The new zone would have one unit per acre and the revised PRD zone would allow large lot subdivision. Staff favored a new zone rather than a revision.

The Board of Trustees of the Yorba Linda Library District will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 5. Among items on the agenda are a budget report, the museum project and participation in the Fiesta Day activities.

Approval of a conditional use permit for construction and operation of a commercial office/retail building on the north side of Yorba Linda Blvd., east of the new mortuary has been granted by the Planning Commission. The applicant was Don Schug. The plans for the building were submitted for the third time and were a complete re-design of the projected building. It will be two stories.

Randy Lafferty of Yorba Linda will be an Orange County All-Star delegate to the 4-H All-Star Conference August 6-9 on the University of California Berkeley campus. There will be county sessions, campus tours, group discussions, recreation and a dance. 1976-77 Diamond Stars will receive emblems and pins at the recognition banquet.

Kindergarteners and new students in the Placentia Unified School District may register at schools beginning August 16. Junior and senior high school counseling offices will open August 23. School office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. For information call the schools or the district office, 524-4243.

Water, Sewer Service Studied

A possibility exists that Yorba Linda will establish its own water and sewer department. It would serve the recently annexed Kraemer Ranch area but not involve existing services furnished by the Yorba Linda County Water District.

City Administrator Art Simonian told the council Monday night that he had been approached by the developer on water and sewer service.

Several alternatives were discussed including the developer establishing his own service, having other agencies furnish it or the city getting into that business.

Simonian said he has discussed all the possibilities with the YL District. He got approval from the council to request at the August 16 meeting funds to conduct a feasibility study on the city furnishing the service.

Local Youngsters Superb Riders

Lots of Yorba Linda youngsters own and ride horses or use family horses and evidently many of them are accomplished equestrians. This conclusion can be drawn from the number of local winners in the Junior Horse Show at the recent Orange County Fair.

Eleven Yorba Linda boys and girls captured a total of 35 awards in the competition.

Kelly Armistead topped the list with seven prizes. Harriet Kittredge and Sharon Baker each had five. Alice Kittredge won four awards. Others won three, two or one prize.

Kelly Armistead's winners were: Junior Working Hunters, class 30, ages 15-17, eighth; Junior Working

Bees a 'Nuisance' But They'll Stay

"Plea bargaining" by bee keepers and bee lovers has reduced the problem from that requiring an "urgency ordinance" to one of a "nuisance" in an individual case.

That was the decision of the Planning Commission after a lengthy public hearing last week. The decision will be transmitted to the City Council for a final action.

Donald Todd, the local man with the allergy to bee stings, was "swarmed" under at the hearing by bee keepers from Yorba Linda, Anaheim, Downey, Lynwood and members of the Orange county Beekeepers Association.

The proponents outlined the need for bees to pollinate fruit and crops, provide raw honey for medicinal purposes against allergies, for educational and hobby pursuits.

One speaker warned that if the city outlawed bees the keepers would "go underground" by "disguising" and "hiding" their hives and moving them "in and out of town."

Other bee keepers cautioned that there would be no more free removal of swarms which occasionally get into a house or on property. The alternative would be the hiring of exterminators at a substantial cost.

Still another played down the incidence of true allergies. He claimed swelling and redness were not real indicators. Shortness of breath, hemorrhaging, severe brain damage, shock, collapse of heart and veins are the true allergy symptoms, he said.

It was pointed out by speakers that bees only sting when provoked.

Richard Dennis, Todd's neighbor, who admitted that he probably "started this whole mess", said that he had checked with city officials before buying the property to make certain that he could keep bees.

Dennis said: "I don't know why the bees go next door and sting my neighbor. They've got over 500 trees to take care of and do not have time to go around stinging people."

Todd got some support, mostly from his wife, who asked the bee keepers how they dressed when they handled the bees. She was told "in coveralls and a veil." When she asked "why" the bee people admitted "Because they sting."

Todd spoke of how "impressed" he was with out of towners who are in favor of Yorba Linda keeping bees. He was equally "impressed" with the threat to "go underground."

The bee opponent declared four people in his area had been hospitalized because of bee stings. Todd advocated that this city follow the example of Placentia and Fullerton who do not allow bees.

Some of the bee keepers urged cooperation and placing the problem on a nuisance basis. These thoughts were echoed by members of the Planning Commission when they made their recommendation.

Contest Winners

The Beautification Committee of Yorba Linda has completed its first annual Beautification Awards program according to Bill Rogers, chairperson of the committee.

The members have spent several months physically driving throughout the city selecting 21 homes from seven geographical areas, Rogers explained.

There were two categories: residential and nonresidential. After 21 candidates were selected in residential and ten in nonresidential, seven homes and three businesses were selected as winners.

Chairperson Rogers went on to explain that the overall criteria was a clean and neat appearance; not necessarily size and expense of design.

By dividing the city into seven sections, a broad base was created providing a winner in every area of the city rather than, say two on one street. Similar guidelines were used for the nonresidential candidates; including conformity to city codes.

The Beautification Committee hopes that by sponsoring a contest each year people will acquire incentive and encouragement to get involved in clean-up and beautification projects.

The winners received a plaque in recognition for their efforts at the City Council meeting Monday, August 2nd. The presentation was made by Mayor Wedaa and Rogers.

Other members involved in the project were Doris Foulds, John Hills, Lorraine Scheidt, Eugenia Kocher, Peggy Hugins, and Sarah Strickland.

The residential winners were: Robert Okimoto, 19782 Mojorca; Joseph Gruppie, 20171 Fernglan; Jack Cassidy, 18560 White Oak Drive; Richard Hooper, 19350 Easy Street; Dwayne Benson, 17691 Ridgcrest Drive; James Ferguson, 18422 Rio de Plata; L. R. Wakefield, 4862 Collins.

The nonresidential were: Esperanza Hospital, 16850 E. Bastanchury Road; Security Pacific Bank, 19601 Yorba Linda Boulevard; Rancho Realty, 4805 Main Street.

For more information contact Bill Rogers, days-635-4020 and evenings -996-8280.

Councilman Irwin Fried is disturbed over what he has termed "a tremendous lack of interest" by local and area Realtors in his proposal, which has the support of the Council, to hold a "Real Estate Seminar."

Fried, who served several years on the Planning Commission before being elected to the City Council last March, proposed the seminar to "make a determined, concerted effort to eliminate friction between homeowner groups, the city and Realtors."

Fried explained that "Many new citizens of Yorba Linda have their first contact with Yorba Linda through single-family residential real estate brokers and sales personnel."

"Many real estate salesmen and brokers are not as aware of City policies, philosophies and City personnel as they should be and have indicated they would like to be."

This statement by the councilman appeared as an introduction to the subject when outlining the format for the seminar.

The format was sent in mid-May to Realtors who have business licenses in the city along with a letter inviting them to recommend a day in July "when all your sales personnel could be in attendance."

Two months later a follow-up letter was dispatched to the same mailing list setting the date for the seminar as Monday, August 23.

Approximately 50 letters were sent, about half of those to firms in Yorba Linda and the others to Realtors in Garden Grove, Fullerton, Tustin, Glendale, Placentia, Beverly Hills, Newport Beach, Anaheim, Sunset Beach and Orange.

Fried feels the seminar is of "critical importance" but decried the fact that in more than two weeks since the second letter was sent only two acceptances have been received.

"I would think the real estate industry would want to take advantage of this opportunity," Fried declared. He alluded to the format as "an excellent opportunity for the Realtors" to be educated and gain some sort of understanding of our General Plan and zoning ordinance."

Mayor Henry Wedaa will be the moderator and will explain the involvement of the General Plan, its purpose and implementation of it through the zoning ordinance.

The Planning Commission chairman will outline the purpose of the Commission, its composition, tools the commission utilizes such as the zoning ordinance in general and its variances, conditional use permits and other elements as specifics.

Representatives of the Yorba Linda Placentia School Districts will participate. They will tell of the relationship between them, including that with the Fullerton Union High School District; historical ties between the YL and FUHSD and describe the geographical boundaries between the Yorba Linda and Placentia Districts.

Planning Director Phil Paxton will describe the functions of the Planning Department. A city building official will talk on the purpose of inspection with regard to building violations, how inspections are accomplished and what is a "Red Tag."

The city's grading ordinance and master plan of drainage will be the subject of the City Engineer.

Each real estate office represented will be provided with a copy of the General Plan Land Use Map, a zoning map and a listing of city officials and a review of types of problems handled by various city departments.

There will be an opportunity by the audience to question seminar participants.

While discouraged at this point, Fried is hopeful that the real estate industry will appreciate the worthiness of the seminar and what their members can learn from it and attend in large numbers.

Letters To The Editor

"Sore Loser" Tells Story

Editor

Yorba Linda Star

Mr. Donald Perley claims that at least one member of our City Council has no use for City Committees and that the remainder of the Council may as well. (See "Letters", July 28th issue of the Star).

There may be some who question the validity of Mr. Perley's claim--especially if they read the article appearing on the same page, in which the Council requests that volunteers willing to donate their time serving on one of five new committees apply at City Hall before August 13. Why does the Council waste time appointing citizens to committees if they don't intend to make use of the committee?

Those of us who have suffered the frustrations of volunteering have learned the answer to that hard way, and it's very likely we will never have confidence in anything the Council does.

It's miraculous that our present City Council ever gets anything worthwhile accomplished because they spend so much time involved in petty political power plays and ego building put downs directed at each other!

Committees are appointed in Yorba Linda because they are appointed in every city--it's a sign of the times. However in Yorba Linda it's done merely to pacify the public. Just consider the way in which our committees are appointed.

For example, think about the tactics used by our Council recently to appoint two new Planning Commissioners and two new members to the Beautification Committee--it can best be described as "organized confusion"!

I was one of the applicants for the Beautification Committee and if you think I'm writing this because I am a sore loser, you're absolutely right! I have nothing against the two people who were appointed--they tolerated a great deal of inconvenience and that's an understatement to be sure!

I'm mad (also an understatement) because of the manner in which the appointments to the Beautification Committee were made.

Five months ago, March 3rd to be exact, a member of the Beautification Committee told me that there were two openings on the committee and suggested I apply for one of them. I did that same day.

The following day I was contacted by the City and invited to the next meeting. I received an agenda in the mail and on March 9th I attended my first Beautification Committee meeting.

It was explained to me at the first meeting that until I was officially appointed by the City Council at one of their meetings, I could not be a voting member but that was a minor technicality and I should consider myself a member because they (the Council) had never turned down an applicant.

I have attended every B.C. meeting since that first one, as well as many meetings of the Planning Commission and several City Council meetings. I have been, actively involved in the B.C.--accompanied them on tours and accepted assignments, etc.

A month passed and I had not been officially appointed as yet. I was never put on the agenda of the City Council. I was reassured by the members of the B.C. that it was just a matter of time. Then something happened that shocked us all.

Vince Bautista, Associate City Planner and liaison officer to the Beautification Committee was suddenly fired. I had gotten to know Vince through my association with the B.C. and since I knew the dedication he felt to his job and how hard he worked at it I was puzzled as to why the City of Yorba Linda would suddenly fire him. I decided on my own to make it my business to find out why he had been fired.

After hearing Vince's side, I tried to find out what I could from the City which wasn't a great deal. So I went to the Orange County Employees Association to learn what I could from them. (Vince was not aware that I did this until much later.) From there I went to the Library and did many hours of research on the City Codes and Ordinances.

Then, after doing all of that I decided that Vince Bautista was fired because if anything he was too dedicated to his job. When I learned that the City Council (who were responsible for his termination) was also the Board of Appeal I decided Vince needed some help and so I wrote a letter to the Star in order to make the citizens of Yorba Linda aware of what was going on.

The City Council, meanwhile had finally gotten around to putting the appointment of B.C. members on the agenda. I went to the Council meeting and instead of being appointed, they decided that they needed to advertise for more applicants. And so I waited. A notice seeking applicants appeared in the Star--giving anyone interested until May 7th to apply.

Again I went to the Council meeting, not expecting but hoping to be appointed. Instead of not having enough applicants, they now had seven. So it was decided that all seven be interviewed at the next meeting. However Councilman Groot stated that he wanted to interview the applicants alone prior to the interview by the entire Council.

There is much more involved than what I am stating here. Being as brief as possible, what took place from that Council meeting in April until the applicants were finally interviewed and members appointed on July 6th was the most disgusting "mess" (for lack of a better word) that I have ever seen!

Councilman Groot interviewed me for almost an hour and a half. During that interview he made it quite clear to me that the reason I had not been selected as a member of the B.C. was because of the letter I had written to the Star in Vince Bautista's behalf.

I received a letter from the City on May 20, requesting that I appear for an interview at 6:30 p.m. on the night of June 7, 1976. I went (as did the other applicants) and sat there the entire evening, only to be told that the interviews were to be continued until June 23rd.

I went to the meeting on June 23, and against sat there through the entire meeting until I was finally called up to the podium to be interviewed. The time was 2:00 a.m.!! I was the first one interviewed and with the exception of Councilman Chaput, I have never been treated so rudely.

After my interview was over, the Council decided to ask the other candidates if they would prefer to wait until the next meeting when they would not be so tired--a choice I was not given.

On July 6, I got to the Council meeting approximately a half hour late and was told that the members of the B.C. had already been appointed (Before the minutes were even approved from the last meeting, so I'm told). It didn't come as a surprise to me that I was not one of the applicants chosen.

That is why I'm a sore loser. But even more important to me is the knowledge that Yorba Linda's future is in the hands of such egotistical and incompetent people.

I urge everyone in Yorba Linda to get involved in what's taking place in our community--Don't assume that the City Council is going to do the job for us. If anyone ever needed help it's our city government. It's up to us to help them whether they want it or not--The future of our community depends on it!

Sincerely,
Jackie Harrison

Rebuttal to Schug

Dear Mr. Editor,

I am responding to the letter written to me-as well as all other citizens of Yorba Linda-published in the Star, July 28, 1976, entitled "Developer Explodes", written by Don Schug.

Yes-I know my councilmen. Yes-I know what they stand for, because I obtained such information before I supported them in their respective campaigns. Furthermore, I am pleased with their performance and I respect their judgment in selecting the members of the Planning Commission. I know that both the Council and Planning Commission are comprised of dedicated workers receiving only a pittance for long hours of work.

Perhaps the variance of opinions stems from the fact that I came here from Texas 15 years ago and after a year of deliberation selected Yorba Linda as my home. I liked the free rural atmosphere and low density factor.

I came here to have a home in this type environment, whereas it is apparent that Mr. Schug came here to change the General Plan so he could have a high density, build more homes, and reap bigger profits. That's the difference between being a Builder-Developer and a Homemaker.

When one has tendency to put personal desires above the community's welfare, the City authorities would be remiss in their duties if they did not resist. Special interest and special treatment cannot be condoned in the administration of a city.

I have read Mr. Schug's letter three times endeavoring to fully understand the gyrations he has gone through. I have concluded that his letter reflects only one side of the issues.

I have always been given adequate justification for decisions rendered to me by the City, yet Mr. Schug leaves the impression that he was provided no reasons for decisions. Also, I cannot understand why Mr. Schug has made no progress, after obtaining favorable decisions.

Maybe Mr. Schug was the bump

OVERWHELMED--Jennifer Korn of Yorba Linda is almost lost among the trophies she has won with her baton twirling prowess. She recently added the title of Miss Majorette of the West, Junior Division. She is now at Notre Dame University in Indiana to compete for the title of Miss Majorette of America. She's been twirling for five years and has won over 500 awards. The 13 year old attends Yorba Linda Jr. High. Among other awards were fourth last January at the National Twirling Championships in St. Paul, Minn.; Sweepstakes in April at the National Orange Show and Sweepstakes in June at the Del Mar Exposition.

I was reading the legal notice published in last week's Star on amending the city ordinance relating to animal control, welfare, license and health requirements.

Nevertheless, I was pleased to see the section. It requires that "No person ride any equine during the nighttime on unlighted streets within the city without complying with each of the following:

"(a) such person shall use tack composed of materials readily identifiable in the dark; tack composed of reflecting materials or with reflectors placed on it shall be deemed in compliance with the requirement.

"(b) such person shall wear light colored clothing readily identifiable in the dark."

There is no mention of bee keeping in the ordinance and it will probably not be amended as a result of last week's hearing on the subject before the Planning Commission. (See related story on Page One).

But there is much in the ordinance which citizens should know about in regards to animals. It also makes the city "a bird sanctuary." Signs will be erected so declaring and birds are protected from being shot and their nests and eggs from being molested. The ordinance is recommended reading.

Sincerely,
Bill Dieterle
